FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky, as second-class mailable matter.

GEO. A. LEWIS, Editor and Pub.

FRANKFORT, JUNE 8, 1896.

Well, Hardly.

The following appeared in the editorial columns of the Louisville Times of Wednesday afternoon:

Just about fifteen years ago there was a Republican State Convention assembled in this town. A certain Jaykalker from the "mountings," one John D. White, was a delegate, and the Hon. Walter Evans, fresh from a scrimmage at Middletown, was the Permanent Chairman. The aforesaid White had run the Democratic Legislature of Kentucky the winter previous, and had whipped the Speaker in a fist fight. He attempted to be every man in the convention, but was frequently called down by the Chairman. By and by, in a rage, the Hon. White exclaimed: "Mr. Chairman, who's running this convention anyhow?" To which the Chairman, as imperturbable as that icicle that hung on Diana's temple, replied: "Th t is a matter about which opinion is probably d vided; but it is evident the gentleman from Clay county is not running it, and he can take notice, now, that as long as the present occupant of the chair presides, the gentleman from Clay will not run it." And neither did he at any stage of the game. Another Republican convention is in session in Louisville this good day, and there are indications that the man who ran the convention of 1880 is not running that of 1895—at least he is not the Temporary Chairman, though that dignity with a string attached was offered him.

The above is just about as accurate as the information of a Chicago young man who sat by our side one afternoon, en route from that city to the World's Fair, in June, 1893. As the train whirled by the Douglas monument on Lake Front, he remarked, "Here's where the soldiers camped during the war and I guess that man Douglas died here while in camp." "No," we replied, "he was United States Senator from Illinois at the time of his death at his home in this city." "Oh, well, he died all right, didn't he?" said the young man.

The truth is the Republican convention of 1880 was called to order by Hon. George Denny, then chairman of the State Central Committee, who presided until a temporary chairman was elected, and while doing so had a tilt with Mr. White. Hon. John W. Lewis was elected temporary chairman and the late Gen. James Speed was afterwards elected permanent chairman. The latter gentleman sat down upon Mr. White and the Times can say, like the Chicago young man, "well White was sat upon all right, wasn't he?" but is badly mixed in the balance of its item. The convention of 1880 sent Mr. Evans as a delegate to the Chicago Convention, and whether or not there was any string attached to the offer to make him temporary chairman of the convention which met in Louisville this week we are unable to say, but he was made permanent chairman of that body, which is a much greater honor.

Like a Selve.

The chief function to the kidneys is to separate from the blood, in its passage through them, of certain impurities and watery particles which make their final exit through the bladder. The retention of these, in consequence of inactivity of the kidneys, is productive of Bright's disease, dropsy, diabetes, albuminuria and other maladies with a fatal tendency. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a highly sanctioned diuretic and blood purifier, impels the kidneys when enactive to renew their filtering function, and strain from the vital current impurities which infest it and threaten their own existence as organs of the body. Cat rrh of the bladder, gravel and retention of the urine are also maladies arrested or averted by this benign promoter and restorative of organic action. Malaria, rheumatism, constipation, biliousness and dyspepsia also yield to the Bitters, which is also speedily beneficial to the weak and nervous.
